Admit Killing Keokuk Girl

KEOKUK, Ia., Sept. 25.—(P)— John Soule, 27, of Wayland, Mo., was given until Monday morning in district court here today to plead to a charge of shooting to death the only girl he ever had. Soule was arraigned before Judge James S. Burrows on a county attorney's information charging him with the murder of Clarice Rankin, 19-year-old Keokuk girl.

Deputy County Attorney John F. Burrows, son of the judge, filed the information. Asked if he wanted counsel, Soule replied in open court: "I don't need any. I am guilty."

Judge Burrows explained that the law required appointment of an attorney in murder cases and selected G. L. Norman of Keokuk to represent the defendant.

The deputy county attorney said Soule had told him that Clarice was the only girl he ever had gone with.

Cardinals was beaned. Joe Medwick, the $150,000 flop of last season, is playing a scrappy, aggressive left field and hitting a solid .315.

That is a lot of good, consistent hitting to have in one outfield. The drawbacks are that Walker's arm is not so good and that Reiser is just a kid coming up to his first world series. Still, it looks like a better combination from here than the Yankees would be with Selkirk in left. George simply doesn't have it any more, and Henrich too often is stopped completely by really good pitching.

While by no means the distance clouters that the Yankees are, the Brooklyn outfielders are not entirely bereft of power. Medwick has hit 18 homers and 40 other extra-basers. Reiser has 13 homers, 17 tripples and 40 doubles. Walker has been known to connect in the pinches, too. Cardinals Handicapped

If the Cardinals should sneak into the big series, they would be sadly handicapped by injuries. They did have a mighty good outfield back in mid-season when they were threatening to run away with the National League race. But hard luck has left them little more than the framework. Terry Moore, their star centerfielder, is back in the lineup but obviously has not fully recovered from the lick he received on his head in Boston. Enos Slaughter's cracked shoulder still pains him on his swing and probably would confine him to pinch-hitting in the series. There remains Estel Crabtree, surprisingly agile for his years; Johnny Hopp, the miderm sensation, who is filling in or injured Johnny Mize at first: Coaker Triplett and Don Padgett, wo run-of-the-mines. So, it's the Yankees' honor if Charley Keller even limps out to eft field when the umps say play ball next Wednesday. But if this slugger broods in the dugout, we'll take Brooklyn's outfield. We'll even take Brooklyn to win the series. The Yankees can't spare a hitter like King Kong.

The 'American Division

Probably few Americans realize how many of their fellow citizens have been slipping over the border to Canada to enlist for service against Hitler. One hears now and then from Europe about how Spaniards and Frenchmen are volunteering to serve the German Fuehrer, but little is being said about American volunteers except in England.

Yet a recent Canadian dispatch estimates at 8,000 the number of American citizens in the Canadian army, while 10 percent of the Royal Canadian Air Force air crews are believed to be Americans. Together they would probably be equivalent to a full division.

These men are on their own. No conceivable pressure has been put on them except that which came from within themselves. They are a living testimony that freedom also has

The United States is on the verge of an agreement with Peru which will make available to it Peru's entire supply of copper, vanadium, and lead. Bolivia is now sending all her tungsten and tin, Chile almost all her copper. Argentina half her tungsten. Mexico and Brazil are co-operating similarly.

WITH SECOND ARMY IN LOUISIANA-Like morale, the equally discussed shortage of army combat equipment is more apparent than

It is true that many of the hundreds of units undergoing field training in this tough bayou country do not have all the tanks, guns, motor vehicles and other arms their tables of organization call for.

There are armored scout cars roaring over the dusty roads with wooden simulations of 50-caliber machine guns mounted on their gun tracks. There are anti-aircraft and tank batteries that use poles to represent a portion of their guns. Many of the light and medium tanks are not the late models now clanking off Chrysler and other assembly lines. A number of outfits still are not fully equipped with the new Garand rifle. But despite these deficiencies the new citizen army is being trained to fight as a highly mobile, highly mechanized, highly armored battle machine. It is a very different army from the AEF.

From buck privates to commanding generals the new army is learning to operate as a blitz force. To a World War veteran the speed and scope of the maneuvers down here in this extremely difficult country are astounding. The fact that units do not have all the latest type equipment is not a serious matter right now.

1941-Not 1917 Model

It would be serious if the new army was being molded into a reproduction of the 1917 model. It would also be very serious if large scale mass production of the latest type of arms was not under way. But it is under way. Meanwhile this citizen army has little outward resemblance to its World War predecessor.

Further, first-hand inquiry in units with simulated equipment disclosed that all the men had training in the real stuff. Every man in the infantry divisions has had target practice with the Garand, the available supply of this rifle being rotated for this purpose. The same was found to be true in all the other units where equipment shortages existed. Men and officers know the arms and equipment of their respective branches and they are learning to wage war as soldiers of these branches.

That is the important thing in the question of equipment deficiencies in the army at present. These deficiencies are rapidly being overcome. It is the training that is crucialand it is model '41.

NOTE: Few recall that the nucleus of Hitler's blitzkrieg legions was trained with simulated tanks and mechanized equipment and guns.

Shortage of Good Officers

Far more serious than the shortage of equipment is the problem of able officer per-

This is of the utmost moment because without efficient officers an army, no matter how good and plentiful its arms, is doomed to

There is worlds of room for improvement in the officer corps of this new army. There are now 100,000 officers on active duty, of whom 14,000 are regulars. Most of the rest are national guardsmen and reserves. These officers are patriotic and conscientious men; many of them are serving their country at real personal sacrifice. But at the same time a considerable portion of them are unfit for their jobs and they will have to be weeded out for the good of the army. And that goes for some of the regulars too, particularly in the higher ranks.

The weeding out process, already quietly initiated by the War Department, won't be easy. Many guardsmen have political pull. There will be a lot of heartbreaks. But the purge must be pushed if the new army is to become a real army.

Youth To The Fore The new officers should come from two sources: (1) The junior ranks of the citizen soldiers, who are the cream of the nation's youth. There isn't a finer body of men in the world; (2) the higher ranks from the younger regular officers, the majority of whom are keen, hard-working, conscientious experts, but held down by the obsolete promotion system of the army.

Hundreds of these crack young professionals are being wasted in piddling duties. They ought to be commanding regiments. If this were done it would have a tremendous effect all the way down the line. One of the most important results would be to increase greatly the confidence of the men in their officersat present a definite weakness.

Damyankees There is no isolationism in this back country. The folks down here want to fight Hitler and are rarin' to go. During a reconnaissance, Captain Joseph F. Haskell, brilliant young aide of Major General R. C. Richardson, commander of the 7th Corps, stopped at a farm house to ask road directions. The old farmer was helpful and then began questioning Haskell about world affairs.

"How soon you reckon we going to war?" the farmer inquired. Haskell said he was unable to answer.

"Well, cap'n," volunteered the oldster, "then perhaps you can tell me this. If we do tangle with this man Hitler, do you reckon them Damyankees will help us any?"

Merry-Go-Round Farmers and townspeople in the maneuver area are most hospitable to the soldiers, but a few merchants boosted prices to men in uniform, particularly restaurants in Winnfield, birthplace of the late Huey Long . . . The new citizen army is remarkable for its sobriety and orderliness. Although 450,000 men are in this area, military police and local authorities have had no cases of drunkenness or disorder . . . The relations between the officers and men in the new army are much less formal than during the World War. There is no lack of discipline but a lot of the old saluting has been scrapped.

Cabbage and Carrot Ring

1 package Gelatin Dessert (lemon flavor)

> 2 tablespoons vinegar 1 teapsoon salt 3/4 cup cold water

1 cup boiling water

1 cup finely chopped cabbage 1 cup shredded carrot 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add vinegar, salt, and cold water. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, then add remaining ingredients. Pour into ring mold and chill until firm. Serve on lettuce or other greens and garnish with green olives.

When unexpected callers drop in for afternoon coffee or tea cut slices of enriched white bread with a scalloped cookie cutter, spread with honey butter and sprinkle with a sugar-cinnamon mixture. Pop these spicy, sweet circles under the broiler for a few minutes until they are toasted to a rich, golden color.

Sauces make hot vegetables more tempting.

He already is discussing the expansion with Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator and with the petroleum industry, Ickes said. He told newsmen at his press conference that 50 new refining plants for aviation gasoline would be needed. He said this would boost the daily capacity from 40,000 barrels to approximately 120,000.

Affirm A Life Term To Slaver

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 25.— (A)-The state supreme court today affirmed the life sentence of Hadley Eaton, convicted of slaying a Shelbyville school teacher because she spurned his efforts to revive a childhood romance at a Shelby county old settler's reunion.

Eaton, in a statement signed after the death of Ethel Dingle, said he became enraged when she told him, "I don't want to go with you." He pleaded temporary insanity.

Eaton and the school teacher broke off their romance several years ago and he left the state. He returned a few years ago and met her at the county reunion. Later, on March 8, 1940, he drove to her school and they argued over his attentions to her. The shooting followed.
